

The United States started the countdown: "Minsk-2" becomes a headache for Kiev

BAFS Economics today with us the world becomes clearer. Federal business Agency Economy today is the Russian information-analytical portal whose mission is to give its readers the fullest picture of the events taking place in Russia and abroad and impacting the global economy and the economy of the country. Covering the news of the Russian economy edition focuses on the most relevant to the widest possible audience the topics that allow to navigate in the context of constant changes but also to predict the market situation to examine trends to understand the depth occurring in the country's economic and political processes. In the selection of news the economies of other countries AWF Economy takes into account the interests of Russian readers offering exactly the information which may be of value to domestic business. News of the Russian economy today is a reflection of the prospects for international collaboration as well as factors affecting the growth and development of technology Commerce Finance and industry. AWF Economy today quickly understand and talk about complex and important in the country and the world we Have you

Link to article:: The United States started the countdown: "Minsk-2" becomes a headache for Kiev